Success Tips #9

Setting Up a Home Studio

There are many configurations. Here are a few suggestions.

1. MICROPHONE: Under $100: Shure SM57 (Male) or SM58 (Female.) Under $300: MD421 Sennheiser. At $700, the Electro-Voice RE20 gives a warm, fat FM-DJ sound.

2. PREAMP/MIXER. Some software packages include a preamp, but stand alone ones like the Mackie Spike ($300) or PreSonus BlueTube ($150) amplify the low-level signal from the mic and give your voice a richer sound.

3. COMPUTER. Whether Mac or Windows, a minimum 256MB of memory is needed for most audio software. A 50GB hard drive is usually ample.

4. SOFTWARE. Audacity (Free), Sound Forge Audio Studio ($70), and Adobe Audition ($250) are easy to learn. More expensive programs like Pro-Tools and Logic Pro 7 used by professional audio engineers, offer stripped down versions for around $700.
